

For Immediate Release

June 20, 2024

Contact Information

contactus@indigorainpublishing.com

contactus@blacktribe.org

Download Image

Download Image

(BPRW) “The Green Green Book - The Traveler's Guide to: Black-Owned Homesteads, Farms, Orchards, Vineyards, Foraging Forests, Apiaries, Ranches, and Markets” - Tops the List for New Book Releases

(Black PR Wire) Las Vegas -- Indigo Rain Publishing has announced the early summer release of the ground-breaking book, “The Green Green Book - The Traveler's Guide to: Black-Owned Homesteads, Farms, Orchards, Vineyards, Foraging Forests, Apiaries, Ranches, and Markets”, by author, Dr. Latatia Stroud. Indigo Rain Publishing, known for its Black Tribe online platform with its e-magazines, Black Tribe Magazine and Black Homesteaders Magazine celebrated its first full year of operations this past April. The Green Green Book is the publishers first featured book which has already skyrocketed to #1 on Amazon in its category for new releases.

The Green Green Book is a traveler's guide dedicated to uncovering the vibrant tapestry of Black excellence in agriculture across the United States. Less than 2% of farmland is Black-owned and the numbers have persistently dwindled. From historic family farms passed down through generations to innovative urban gardening initiatives, from bustling farmers markets to sprawling vineyards and orchards, this groundbreaking guide highlights the breadth and depth of Black agricultural heritage and innovation. The Green Green Book provides an opportunity for to support Black farmers, ranchers, beekeepers, foragers, homesteaders and others by visiting them to observe how they do what they do and the opportunity to buy what they offer.

The Green Green Book is more than just a travel guide to visit these bountiful places — it is a celebration of culture, community, and connection which includes:

- * A Comprehensive List of Black Agricultural Businesses, Ranches, Apiaries, Markets & More in the U.S.
- * Original Passionate Poetry, Photographs and Historical Accounts and Testimonies
- * Breakdown of Reparations and Statuses of Legal Cases

- * Black Agricultural Organizations, Networks and HBCUs
- * Black-Owned Seed Companies
- * Black-Owned Retreats, Excursions and Travel Groups
- * Steps in Applying for your Farm Number
- * Pages of Grant and Funding Resources and More

The Green Green Book pays homage to both Victor Hugo Green and his humanitarian vision, The Negro Motorist Green-Book (aka The Green Book) which became a comprehensive safety manual by providing a directory of Black-friendly businesses during a time of heightened, legalized racial profiling and violence. The Green Green Book is a definite MUST HAVE for every human wanting to share in this journey!

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. LaTatia Stroud, known by her Choctaw name, Rain Angeni, is an Earth steward, writer, and multi-genre artist. Rain is the founder and CEO of BLACK TRIBE, a thriving community of over 167,000 members who unite to support each other on the journey to self-sufficiency through land, home, and business ownership. Additionally, she established the popular Black Women Homesteading Facebook group.

Rain has earned a bachelor's in behavioral science, master's in human services administration, second master's in special education (supervisory and teaching), and a doctorate in curriculum design & educational leadership. She has developed award - winning programs for accreditation and received the "Educator of the Year" award from the Chicago Chamber of Commerce. In 2010, Rain founded International Online High School, which focuses instruction on social justice and advocacy, while providing a rigorous college prep curriculum. Her school now services students from PreK through adult education. Since its opening, over 6,200 students have successfully completed classes and have gone on to excel in colleges and universities abroad.

"The Green Green Book - The Traveler's Guide to: Black-Owned Homesteads, Farms, Orchards, Vineyards, Foraging Forests, Apiaries, Ranches, and Markets" is Rain's debut solo book and will certainly leave a lasting impact!

Purchase The Green Green Book on Amazon at <https://a.co/d/00BIhsEg> and BlackTribe.org

Source: Indigo Rain Publishing